ICYMI: Annual Conference

Videos and executive summary from MassEcon's Annual Conference on "How Massachusetts Technologies are Shaping the World" were recently released and can be found here. Thank you to lead sponsor TD Bank and partner sponsors VHB and WPI.

MassEcon on the Road

MassEcon Senior Director Doug Kehlhem traveled to New York for the MD&M trade show and San Diego for the BIO Convention. In New York, MassEcon partners and sponsors hosted 20 location consultants for a private reception at the Bryant Park Hotel. The Massachusetts delegation had a strong presence at BIO by hosting the Massachusetts Pavilion in the exhibit hall and a private reception at Petco Park for over 100 guests.

Projects

#2836: Project Voyage: MassEcon is working with a Washington DC based consultant that is representing a confidential company that is one of the world's largest wholesalers of technology products and services. The company is seeking to identify a market that can supply a labor force experienced in critical thinking, innovation, problem solving, and high level customer engagement. This potential project would represent 200 jobs. Notes: MassEcon members Aerotek and Winter Wyman have been interviewed by the consultant in order to gain local knowledge and expertise of the labor market.

#2838: MassEcon, MLSC, City of Cambridge, and City of Boston have been contacted by a New York based consultant representing a 5KSF bioscience research and development office client with 20 new jobs. The company is considering Cambridge, Boston, Toronto, and New York.
